VOICEMAIL TRANSCRIPTION

Vocalocity has introduced a new service called Voicemail Transcription that sends a text version of voicemail messages to the email address of your choice. The written transcription is delivered to the end user's email address and/or email-enabled mobile phone together with the audio file of the message.

Vocalocity provides a no-cost, 30 day trial of Voicemail Transcription service to all users on your account. After the trial period you may continue the feature as a paid service on select extensions of your choosing.

BENEFITS:

- Voicemail Transcription service is fully automated, using state of the art voice recognition technology. No live agents are involved in transcribing voice mail messages.
- By using automated technology, we can ensure complete privacy for your end users and rapid delivery of the transcribed message.
- Transcriptions are delivered for any user who has activated voicemail-to-email delivery in the user interface.

PRICING:

30 Day Free Trial per extension

$4.99 a month/extension after trial period
